Progress 9 Test Case:

Result:

- The app now has a loading page that attributes to the start-up, I can use it as a chance to load all the data needed for the app. For example, if the loading page is used my dictionary text file data can be loaded without any time added. The code has definelty seen it's greatest progress so far and I now have many more ideas I would like to include due to having text-based animation working after many tries.